Mrs. I. H. Holland received a telegram last Monday announcing that Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Saurman were leaving Baltimore on that day for home and would arrive in Portland yesterday where they hoped to meet A. K. Richardson of this city as Dr. Saurman desired to secure a Buick car for his use here at home and would bring it in as they came. They are expected the first of next week. Dr. Saurman was engaged in the practice of his profession in this city prior to the war and was one of the first to respond to the call for medical men. He was a reserve in the navy and has seen active service ever since entering. However, he was glad to resign at the close of hostilities and return home.

GOES WITH WILSONS ON PEACE TRIP.

Her daddy, Col. E. M. House, quite chummy with the president, and himself a peace delegate; her husband, Gordon Auchincloss, a special assistant in the mission—it is quite natural Mrs. Gordon Auchincloss should be one of the few women who sailed with the president's official party to the Versailles peace conference.
